The day will be facilitated by skilled trainers and coaches who will introduce you to a number of useful approaches to reviewing and reflecting on your life and direction:

Delve deeply into your strengths, clarify your vision, and identify your actions to bring it nearer.

Suzanne Quinney

who made her own positive transition in the '90's from an international UN research job in London to a renowned spiritual education centre - The Findhorn Foundation, www.findhorn.org Scotland where she lived and learnt and taught personal development workshops for 7 years.

6 years ago she made another transition and moved to Liverpool where she co founded an organisational development company, Appreciating People www.appreciatingpeople.co.uk.

She is a trained mentor and coach and now combines what she learnt in Findhorn with a more conventional work life.

Helen Bush

has made a number of positive transitions in her life - from horticulturist to Chartered Landscape Architect; to Executive director of a large charitable organisation; to her present life choice as a Senior Associate in strength based Organisational Development and Strategic planning, personal development, business coach, and Ceramicist.
